Wilson urging the Western Union Telegraph Company to accept the decision of the National War Labor Board in the controversy between the company and the telegraphers' union, Newcomb Carlton, President of the company, reiterates its opposition to allowing its employees to join the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. He says that there are only two ways of settling the dispute—by compulsory arbitration as in the railway strike or by acceptance of the plan of an organization of employees already outlined by the company.

Mr. Carlton accuses the union, "in waiving its right to strike during the war under the Labor Board's plan, of purposing to carry on propaganda to enable it to make use of the strike after the war. The letter, made public today, concludes with the statement that the company "would deeply deplore being forced to lay aside the safeguards that experience has shown to be requisite and which are believed essential to the preservation of effective telegraph service."

"We believe," Mr. Carlton says, "that we are entitled during the war to maintain the dictum which the Secretary of Labor has so well expressed in these words:

"Where either an employer or an employee has been unable under normal conditions to change the standards to their own liking they should not take advantage of the present abnormal conditions to establish new standards."

"We have for years maintained the position that our essential employees, those working the wires, should not affiliate with organizations employing the strike either for their own benefit or sympathetically for the benefit of others. This policy has long been known to our employees and we have considered abstention from such affiliation a condition of their service, and to-day there are no members of such organization in our employ."

"We are not favorable to sharing the responsibility of conducting a great public service with the peculiar features of the telegraph, which the exigencies of the war have increased many fold, with members of an outside organization whose interests are personal rather than public."

"Under the plan of Mr. Walsh, concurred in by Mr. Taft, an outside union which has for many years been frankly hostile to the company would, under the pretext of a war emergency, waive its right to strike during the war, but only that it might furnish the nucleus for the disorganization of our service through destruction and discipline and the use of the strike immediately after the exigencies of the war had ceased and released it from its promises."

"We ask you to believe that our view is based upon a most careful re-examination of our experience in the operation of telegraph service. There is no compromise between the company and its employees over pay or hours of labor. There is no likelihood of a strike of our employees, a body of men and women of high patriotism, who have borne great burdens uncompromisingly as a part of their contribution to the Nation's cause."

YALE HONORS FIGHTERS.

Alumni See Service Flag Raised at Patriotic Meeting.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 18.—To the alumni of Yale University at their commencement gathering to-day President Arthur T. Hadley spoke of the life and work of the institution in war time. "A year ago the campus was full of students in uniform ready for service," he said. "Now it is empty, for the students have gone. The alumni fund has met the expected deficit and Yale's first battle of the war is won."

The alumni gathering was devoid of its picturesque features of other years. There was a patriotic meeting when the university service flag, showing 1,229 students in service, was raised. The total Yale men in service is 5,522. The decrease in students is 4 per cent.

War Modifies Class Day Exercises at Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 18.—The absence of many members of the graduating class on war service necessitated some modifications of the customary class day exercises at Harvard University to-day. No ode was read, as the class ode, Alfred, Putnam, of Cambridge, is in France. The class poem, written by Lieut. Thatcher Nelson of Chicago, was read in his absence by Ralph Brown of New York.

Gov. Burnquist in Lead.

Ahead of Non-Partisan League in Minnesota Primaries.

ST. PAUL, June 18.—Latest gubernatorial returns from yesterday's primaries election in decided to-day that Gov. J. A. A. Burnquist would be re-nominated on the Republican ticket by a majority of 50,000 or more. His opponent, Charles A. Lindbergh, who was endorsed by the Non-Partisan League, was more than 30,000 votes behind when returns from 897 precincts in seventy-seven of eighty-six counties had been compiled. The latest figures gave Burnquist 76,427 and Lindbergh 46,094.

Judge W. L. Comstock of Manxto was nominated for Governor by the Democrats by a heavy majority over Fred E. Whiston of Minneapolis. United States Senator Knute Nelson, who was endorsed by the Democrats, lost so far outdistanced his Republican opponent, James A. Peterson of Minneapolis, that it is estimated he will be nominated by a four to one majority.

Why Swift & Company Has Grown

The fact that a business organization has grown steadily for forty years proves that it has kept continually meeting a vital business demand.

It must have kept "fit" or it could not have stood the strain of ever-shifting conditions.

"To help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience which I have found as valuable as granular iron—Vital Iron," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, Roseton. Iron often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time. It is now being used by over three million people annually, including such men as Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, former Secretary of the Treasury, and ex-Governor of Iowa; former United States Senator Richard B. Kenney of Delaware, at present Major of the U. S. Army; General John I. Clem (Retired), the drummer boy of Shiloh, who was sergeant in the U. S. Army when only 12 years of age; also United States Judge G. W. Atkinson of the Court of Claims of Washington and others. Vital Iron is dispensed by all good druggists everywhere.

WANAMAKER'S

More Than 16,000 Packets

Ready for Tomorrow's Selling in the Half-Yearly Silk Packet Sale

$100,000 Worth for $59,000

165 Tables will be Piled High with the Packets

THE WANAMAKER Silk Packet Sale is the silk event of the season. In quality of silks, wide assortment, low prices, it has stood without an equal since its origination by us in 1912.

Tomorrow's sale is, relatively, the best of all our Packet Sales. Silks are scarce. Workers are leaving silk mills to work in munition factories. Their places are hard to fill, even at increased wages. The demand for silks continues normal—indeed, it will increase, because the woolen field is narrowed by the clothing needs of the millions of men gone over and going over to hasten the great day of Victory and Peace. Yet the production of silk will be only 60 to 70 per cent. of normal (see "SILK" of June 15).

In the face of these facts, to offer $100,000 worth of the finest silks in the world at 50c to $14 a yard less is to do

Something greater than we have ever done

Why do we do it?

FIRST—because we are trustees of the people who have made the WANAMAKER Silk Rotunda the largest retail distributor of silks in the world. TO YOU go the benefits of our buying, no matter how prices advance after we have bought.

SECOND—since we will not speculate at your expense, we must keep to our normal mercantile policy of clearing off stock twice each year in order to make room for the new silks in the buying of which we must take our chances on the market.

So we have gone over our entire stock of silks—finest stock of the finest silks in the country—have culled out all small lengths, all broken family assortments, all odd shades, all odd weaves—have taken pieces barely cut into and cut them up into dress, skirt and blouse lengths. When we finished, we found we had gathered together for the sale more than 16,000 packets of every kind of good silk you can think of—

More than 200 qualities
from the best makers

Pongees	Crepes de chine	Grenadine broches
Striped pongees	Print chiffons	Metal silks

—and the prices we have put upon them are so low (showing the savings on OUR prices of $41,000), that if it were physically possible, the packets would all go out in one day.

There will be 165 tables, piled high with the packets—in the Silk Rotunda, on the Main aisle, by the Ninth street elevators, and on the First floor of the Old Building (the Stewart Building famed for its silks as far back as 1861) and on the Main floor of the New Building. And 100 alert salespeople to wait upon you.

Special Telephone Facilities
